From the Desk of the Pastor

While we celebrate Good Shepherd Sunday today, today is also the World Day of Prayer for Vocations. This means we should be actively praying for more men to answer the Lord's call to be shepherds after His own heart and for more women to respond generously the call to devote their whole lives to the service of the Church in religious life. This is heeding our Lord's instruction to "Pray to the Lord of the harvest to send laborers into his harvest."

Here is our Diocesan Prayer for Vocations that you can pray at home:

Heavenly Father, your divine Son taught us to pray to the Lord of the harvest to send laborers into His vineyard.

We earnestly beg you to bless our Diocese and our world with many priests, deacons and religious who will love you fervently and gladly and courageously spend their lives in service to your Son's Church, especially the poor and the needy.

Bless our families and our children, and choose from our homes those whom you desire for this holy work. Teach them to respond generously and keep them ever faithful in following your Son Jesus Christ, that under the guidance of the Holy Spirit and with the inspiration of Saint Damien and Saint Marianne the Good News of redemption may be brought to all. We ask this through Christ our Lord. Amen.

Have a blessed Easter Season,

Fr. Alfred Omar (@fralfred808)

My Jesus,
I believe that You

I love You above all things,
and I desire to receive You into my soul.
Since I cannot at this moment

Stewardship Moment

In today's gospel Jesus tries to describe the trust relationship between himself and his followers using the images of a shepherd and a gate for the sheep. In both cases, it is about who or what the sheep can trust, whether shepherd or path, leading the Lord's followers into a bountiful pasture. As the good shepherd, the sheep hear, follow, flee false shepherds, and are able to discern whom to trust. Good stewards understand that, no matter how much they are confronted by fear and anxiety, the Lord will not abandon those who follow him. Hearing Jesus' voice does not always happen easily, though, even for those who are closest to him. In what ways do we dispose ourselves to listen to the shepherd's voice? What obstacles keep us from hearing the Lord?

Sunday Connection from Loyola Press

This fourth Sunday of the Easter season is sometimes called Good Shepherd Sunday because in each of the three lectionary cycles, the Gospel reading invites us to reflect on Jesus as the Good Shepherd. In each cycle the reading is from the tenth chapter of John's Gospel. This chapter sets the framework for Jesus' teaching about himself as the Good Shepherd.

Today's reading falls between the stories of Jesus' healing of the man born blind and the raising of Lazarus. Both of these stories were proclaimed in the Gospels found in this year's season of Lent. Following the controversy that ensued when Jesus healed the man born blind, Jesus directs his allegory about the sheep and the shepherd toward the Jewish religious leaders of his time, the Pharisees.

Throughout John's Gospel the Pharisees fail to accept Jesus' ministry and teaching. They show themselves to be "robbers and thieves" because they try to lead the sheep without entering through the gate, Jesus. Through these metaphors, Jesus is telling his listeners that those who follow him and his way will find abundant life. He identifies himself both as the shepherd and the gate. The shepherds who are faithful to him are the ones whom the sheep (Jesus' disciples) should follow.

The relationship between the sheep and their shepherd is based on familiarity. Sheep recognize their shepherd and will not follow a stranger. At the end of the day, shepherds lead their sheep from pastures to a common gated area called a sheepfold. There, one shepherd protects all of the sheep until the next day when each shepherd returns to lead his own sheep to pasture. As shepherds move among the sheep, the sheep follow only their shepherd.

Today's Gospel also gives us the opportunity to reflect on Christian leadership. Jesus' words suggest to us that those who will lead the Christian community will be known by their faithfulness to Jesus. The leaders will recognize that Jesus is the gate for all of the sheep and that having a good relationship with Jesus is the primary characteristic of a Christian leader. Jesus' allegory also suggests that faithful Christian leadership requires a good relationship with the community: the shepherd knows his sheep, and they know him. Christian leaders follow the example of Jesus, the Good Shepherd, by being faithful to him and by being a good shepherd.

Prayer for the COVID-19 Corona Virus Pandemic (by Bishop Larry Silva; March 12, 2020)

Dear God of all the living, you sent your Son Jesus to heal us from illness and sin. We turn to his healing power in this time of anxiety over the pandemic of this potentially deadly virus.

St. Damien and St. Marianne cope dedicated their lives to service of those who had an infectious disease. St. Marianne Cope said, "I am not afraid of any disease," because she was confident of your power to save. At the same time, she took prudent precautions of hygiene to assure that she and her Sisters would not be infected.

Let us learn from this example to put our trust in you to save us from the ravages of disease and to take prudent measures to prevent its spread. Guides us to know when to isolate ourselves from the possibility of infections, but never let anyone be left without the care and concern of others in the community.

As our Diocese of Honolulu has been dedicated to the Divine Mercy we pray with confidence, "Jesus, I trust in you."

From The Campus Ministry Desk

In this weekend's Gospel, the thing that stuck out to me the most was the last part where it talks about the thief comes to destroy but the shepherd is there so that they might have life and have it abundantly. This started to make me think about how it can be applied to the current COVID-19 pandemic.

The way things are now may make it hard for us to be joyful. The virus and how it's perceived can instill a type of fear in everyone. In a sense, it's like the thief that's come to destroy. But we need to focus on the shepherd during this hard time. Even it's hard to stay positive and look on the bright side of things, as long as keep our faith in God, He will continue give us life abundantly.

God knows us each individually and we are his sheep. Even in the moments that we may have strayed away from Him during this time of separation, we all know His voice calling back to us. It's important for us, especially now, to recognize what God says and not what the rest of the world says. Just as he said in John 16:33, "I have told you this so that you might have peace in me. In the world you will have trouble, but take courage, I have conquered the world."

Food for thought this week: What are the things that come to try to steal and destroy my relationship with God and how can I distinguish what God is trying to tell me this week?

Have a great week everyone!

-Shaun Agtarap, Campus Minister

POPE FRANCIS' PRAYER WITH MARY FOR COVID-19

O Mary,
you always shine on our path
as a sign of salvation and of hope.
We entrust ourselves to you, Health of the Sick,
who at the cross took part in Jesus' pain, keeping your faith firm.
You, Salvation of the Roman People, know what we need,
and we are sure you will provide
so that, as in Cana of Galilee,
we may return to joy and to feasting
after this time of trial.
Help us, Mother of Divine Love, to conform to the will of the Father and to do as we are told by Jesus, who has taken upon himself our sufferings
and carried our sorrows
to lead us, through the cross,
to the joy of the resurrection. Amen.
